

MEDIA RELEASE

A NIGHT WITH JEAN KITTSO

28 April 2014

On Saturday 26 April over 150 people were treated to a spectacular evening of comedy, music and general fun when multimedia sensation Jean Kittson came to town. Jean donated her time and talent for a fund raising event organized by Groundswell Gloucester.

As well as being a comedian, Jean is passionate about preserving Australia's beautiful and fragile environment and she also kindly donated all the proceeds of the sales of her latest book made on the night. The book discusses the serious issue of menopause in a light hearted and hilarious way. Jean was supported by musical comedian Sarah Gaul and talented musician Paul Rob Burton both of whom were amazing. Another star of the evening, who had them rolling in the aisles, was local poet and comedian Dame Gabby (Colquhoun) who reminded us that it's not always wise to inquire about another's health.

During the evening Jean held an auction of some great prizes kindly donated by Montrose Berry Farm, Helen Gillard, Margaret Walker and Graeme Healy.

Groundswell Gloucester is working to promote Gloucester and to preserve the beauty and integrity of the Gloucester valley and the concert raised over $5,000.00 which will assist these important activities.

Groundswell wishes to express its thanks to all the performers who donated their time and to also thank all those who helped make the evening such a great success including Julie Freeman and friends, Marion Rounsley, Angela Hutchings, Lyn Hancock and Shogun Printing.

For further information please contact:-
John Watts – 0438346544

The following photo depicts Groundswell Gloucester chair Julie Lyford assisting Jean Kittson to sell her books.

